

architecture (en anglais)

vendredi 30 septembre 2011, par Proviseur adjoint

A model of green architecture

Pierre Jolivet, the design architect of our school, made sure that the structure respected the environment. In fact the school is endowed with wooden trellises, which isolate from the heat while respecting the inside light, and solar panels to provide for renewable energy. It has a roof made of plants which maintains the temperature, and parks outside.

Written by 2011 tenth graders from the European section.